Luitpold Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Adequan[®] (polysulfated glycosaminoglycan) Available

Shirley, NY (June 28, 2011) – As of today, Luitpold Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Animal Health Division has an abundant supply of Adequan[®] i.m. (polysulfated glycosaminoglycan) 5ml single dose vials and 50mL multi-dose vials.

We apologize for any inconvenience the lack of product may have caused you during our temporary back order. It is important to understand that Adequan[®] was not the issue. There were some problems related to several of the human drugs manufactured at the same facility.

“You can be confident that every vial that is manufactured and used in animals is the same quality today as it was when the product was first launched back in the 1980’s” states Allyn Mann, Sr. Manager at Luitpold Pharmaceuticals. “The FDA regulates pharmaceutical companies and all of our Adequan[®] products that are approved by this government agency”.

FDA approval ensures

- Each drug unit is manufactured within specification for therapeutic consistency
- Manufacturer compliance with FDA regulations governing product quality
- Drug shelf life matches labeled expiration date
- Everything on the label is scientifically substantiated
- That the product contains what is represented on the label
- Nothing is false or misleading about marketing materials

If you have any questions, need to place an order or check on the status of an order, please contact our Customer Service Department at 1-800-458-0163 for more information.
